SOME DECEMBER BRIDES

FAVORITE TIME TO BEGIN MARRIED LIFE IS END OF YEAR.

New Lutheran Pastor at York Springs

Rev. Stanly Billheimer Takes Bride—Other Weddings.

Billheimer—Richardson

At the home of the bride, in Washington, D. C., Rev. Stanley Billheimer and Miss Ida Richardson were married last evening at 7.30. Dr. T. C. Billheimer, father of the groom, of Gettysburg, performed the ceremony, a reception followed to the many friends of the bride and groom. The bride received many beautiful presents. Today they go on a short honeymoon to Philadelphia and from there to the groom's charge at York Springs, where a welcoming reception is being prepared for the couple. Among the guests at wedding from this place were Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Billheimer.

Shoemaker—Hewitt.

The home of D. M. Shoemaker, near Sykesville, Md., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the 8th inst., when their oldest daughter, Miss Carrie A., became the wife of James C. Hewitt. The parlor was tastefully decorated with potted plants, evergreens and chrysanthemums. Promptly at twelve o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of "The Fairy Wedding March," exquisitely interpreted on the piano by the bride's sister, Miss Mattie, where they were met by Rev. P. H. Miller, pastor of the Lutheran church of Westminster, who pronounced them husband and wife. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Abbie as maid of honor, and her cousin Miss Bertha Hess as bridesmaid, while Mr. Saville Hewitt, brother of the groom was best man and Messrs. Erman Shoemaker and Harry Bushey, brother and cousin of the bride, respectively, served as ushers. The bride was attired in a gown of white silk combined with handwork and chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and fern, while the groom wore the conventional black with white tie. The bride's attendants were attired in white organdie with pink carnations. Immediately after the wedding ceremony an elegant dinner was served to the many guests after which the wedding party left on a visit to Baltimore, Washington and other places. The bride was the recipient of many presents consisting of silverware, cut glass, etc., useful as well as ornamental. Both the bride and groom are among the most popular persons in the community, the bride having been a member of the noted Shoemaker Orchestra for some years, and both are known throughout this locality by a large number of relatives and friends, their ancestors having come from the southern portion of Adams county. The guests present numbered about sixty, among whom were Wm. C. Black and wife, grandparents of the bride and Miss Bertha M. Hess, of Gettysburg.

A number of the employees at the Almshouse will be chosen upon recommendation of the Steward.

Placer Gold.

Local talent did themselves great credit in the production of the three act drama, "Placer Gold," lasting from 8 to 11.30 o'clock. Prof. H. O. Himes as Farmer Bardwell interpreted the part excellently throughout the play and was well sustained by all who took part, specially mentioning Mrs. Henry Stewart as Bardwell's wife, Miss Edna Ziegler as Gipsy, the heroine, Claude Sheads and Wm. McGowan as the funny Irishmen, and J. Snyder as one of the villains. More than all, little Margaret Stewart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Stewart, captured the audience in the natural way she took the child part in the play. Chas. Stock between the acts gave the illustrated songs "Down on the Farm" and "Where the Swane River Flows." $40 was cleared by the entertainment for the benefit of the Sons of Veterans.

BIDS FOR ROAD BUILDING

UP TO GERMANY TOWNSHIP TAXPAYERS

To Decide Whether It Shall Have A Road Under New Law at $1,500 per Mile.

It is up to Germany township to say whether it will have a half mile of road built by the new Highway Department of the State and pay one-sixth of the cost.

The bids advertised for were opened and it was found that the Maryland Company of Philadelphia had bid $4,340 to build road of local limestone. J. A. Cocklin of Bowmansdale had bid $4,653.50 to build of same material and Wm. J. Martin of Harrisburg $4,735.20 of native stone.

It is now up to the Supervisors of Germany township to say whether they will pay $735.50 for a half mile of macadam road. It is not likely that the Supervisors will act without first consulting the citizens, and it is really up to the people of that township to decide the matter.

The bids exceed the estimate of the cost made by the Highway Department, of about $1,500. The road called for by the specifications is a macadam of about a foot in depth, and there was one small fill up and several places where road was slightly lowered. The cost however seems to be far ahead of the road built by the government here. Contractor Farrell has built the Telford roads at a cost of from $6,000 to $8,000 a mile. A mile of the State Macadam at this bid would run about $9,000. Or at that figure it will cost a township $1,500 to get a mile of the road, as latter pays one-sixth of the cost. If Germany township people and supervisors do no more, they have given light on the cost of building roads under the new road law.

MEMORIAL TO GEN. COLLIS

Proposed to be Placed in National Cemetery by his Reg't.

To the memory of their commander General Charles H. T. Collis, the members of his old command, comprising the Association of the 114th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, or Collis' Zouaves, will erect a fine monument in the Gettysburg National Cemetery. This was decided upon at the thirty-fourth annual reunion of the survivors of the regiment.

Members of the organization from many parts of the country were present at the reunion.

General Collis' monument will be placed in position without loss of time and no expense will be spared to make it an appropriate memorial to the gallant Philadelphian who organized the regiment. For its valor at Fredericksburg the regiment gained recognition from President Lincoln.

Slaughter of Deer.

From reports received the Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission says 1,000 deer and 200 bears were killed this year in the state. If this slaughter continues it is feared that both deer and bear will be exterminated in a few years. In the forest reservations in the South Mountains 58 deer were killed and at the Pine Grove camp nine, making a total of 67 for the hunting grounds in Adams and Franklin counties.

Granite Hill U. B. Church.

The Granite Hill U. B. Church destroyed by lightning some months ago is being rebuilt and it is expected to have a building—a fine modern church—completed by the early spring. The Sunday school rooms are so far completed that they will be used for the N. Mas services.

Filling Jury Wheel.

Judge S. McF. Swope, Jury Commissioners L. E. Schwartz and James B. Crist, with their clerk J. C. Pittenturf, started Monday afternoon on the work of filling the wheel with 350 names, apportioned among the districts of the county.

Keene.

Francis I. Smith, manager of Navier Hall deserves highest praise and support for the character of the shows he has been giving. Keene, the magician, on last Wednesday night was in our opinion the most picturesque entertainment of the kind we have ever attended in this place and for sleight of hand experiments there have been none better.

Another Forgery Case.

Two notes have turned up, one in Hanover Savings Fund Society for $540 and other one for $400 in Peoples Bank of Hanover, given by Albert T. Wortz of Union township, containing the name of his father, Wm. Wortz of Littlestown, which signatures the latter declares to be forgeries. By time the notes came due the son had skipped out and is in Jacksonville, Florida. When father was notified of notes he called at banks and discovered what he pronounced as forgeries. Executions were issued last week on the personal property of father and son. The latter was married six years ago to a daughter of Wm. Weisensale of Conowingo township.

In the United States Courts.

In addition to the disposition made of Tawney case reported last week the following matters were concluded; The grand jury ignored the bill charging Dr. E. D. Hudson of Fairfield, with using the mail to defraud a Philadelphia firm. It was alleged that some rolls for a graphophone had been received, the new ones were removed from package and old ones put back in their place and package returned to firm as no good.

The case of United States vs. four tracts of land on Gettysburg battlefield which were condemned by a jury of viewers at $326 was settled by the land owners, the receivers of the Land Improvement Company accepting the award with consent of Government's representatives.

A Murder and a Suicide.

From Dayton, Ohio, the news comes of a double tragedy. Charles Fraver, 67 years old, shot his wife 62 years old and immediately turned the weapon upon himself and ended his life. The wife had arranged to take a short trip with her daughter, to which the father made some objection and brooded over until the deed was done. Mr. and Mrs. Fraver went to Ohio 32 years ago. He was formerly of near Silver Run, Md., and is survived by two brothers, Harry of Franklin county and Frank of Ohio. Mrs. Fraver was a Gerick of Germany township, and besides leaving three sons and three daughters is survived by three brothers, Andrew Gerick, of Littlestown, John Gerick, of Kingsdale and Wm. Gerick, of Newton county, Indiana, and three sisters, Mrs. John Riffe, of near Littlestown, Mrs. Geo. Shanterger and Mrs. Jas. Unger, of Newton county, Indiana.

This petition drew out a lot of comment. It was said that Mr. Farrel, the builder of battlefield avenues, had said the street could be made all right if the pike was dug up six inches and dust mixed with stone, then rolled.
It would result in the making of an excellent street. The Highway Committee on motion were authorized to experiment with one square on Baltimore street and one on Washington street and see if the dust nuisance could be remedied.

Councilman Hess expressed himself about coasting on the pavements and the answer was "weren't you a boy once?"

Councilman Wolf expressed himself about wooden buildings being erected, making fire traps.

Then there was a consensus of opinion that the borough ordinances needed a general overhauling and it was agreed that Council should meet in special session on Dec. 14 to overhaul the ordinance book and consider the repeal of what should not be there and new ones that should be adopted.

School Report.

The report of Fair View school, Mt.
Joy township, for the third month.

The Mammoth and the Mosquito

What has come to pass in thousands of years seems hardly credible. Primitive man, a weakling in comparison to modern man, was able to conquer the huge monsters of thousands of years ago, such as the Mammoth, and to-day they are dead forever; yet the mosquito and fly have never been conquered. It is now time for the scientist to devise methods for killing the mosquito and fly, so that they will go to join the mammoth and the monster lizards. The mosquitoes and flies are dangerous enemies of man because they spread contagion. The mosquito often carries the form of malaria with him. The house-fly spreads germs of disease over our food.
These bacterial germs, ever hunting for the weak spot, find a place in our blood, and then we suffer from grip, catarrh, consumption, or malaria.
Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., says: "There would be no grip epidemics, the germs of consumption, or malaria would find no place in the human economy, if the blood were pure, if the lungs, heart and other organs were fed on good blood. Poisons should not be allowed to accumulate in the body; to be safe it is best to take a gentle laxative at least once a week." Such a vegetable laxative as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets contains nothing which could harm the system.
For putting the blood in order, and as a tissue-builder and tonic for those weakened by coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, nothing will build up the system quicker than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol.
Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered, or 31 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion.

We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their "teens" are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

The Throne of England.

Some authorities hold that the coronation chair in Westminster abbey is entitled to be called the throne, as being the one occupied by the sovereign at his or her coronation. Others maintain that the throne in the house of lords is really the official throne, as it is occupied by the sovereign for state purposes at the opening of parliament.
Others again say that there is no real throne in the strictest acceptance of the word and that all the thrones or chairs of state in the various palaces throughout the kingdom are equally entitled to be called "the throne," inasmuch as they are used as such when the sovereign happens to be in residence at that particular palace and holds any levee or other strictly official reception. The most general opinion, however, seems to be that the throne in the house of lords is really entitled to be called "the throne of England."

Pleek and Success.

An argument against discouragement after repeated failures is offered by the life of George Frederick Watts, the great English painter.
That he was quite the most important of Great Britain's artists is now everywhere admitted, yet his merit was not generally recognized until after he had passed his sixtieth birthday.
Before he died he said, with a smile, that he had never been discouraged once in spite of all the unjust criticism and, more maddening still, the utter indifference with which his pictures were received until after he had begun to descend the hill toward the valley of old age.

Ancient Trees.

In the sequoia groves of California there stand trees so old that they may well have cast their leaves and shed their seed on the night of the Nativity.
On Mount Lebanon the survivors of the groves which escaped King Solomon's fourscore thousand hewers still stretch their gigantic arms and scatter their cones for the children of the west to carry away.

DECEMBER TOWN COUNCIL GENERAL SEWERAGE SYSTEM AUTHORIZED.

Upon Petition of Citizens an Attempt Will be Made to Get Rid of Dust on Streets.

President Plank called Town Council to order last Tuesday evening at usual hour, all Councilmen present.
Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

A note was read from Park Noel asking that a certain amount be deducted from Policeman McDannell's monthly pay to reimburse him for duty done upon request. A motion prevailed that Noel be paid and amount be deducted from McDannell's bill.

The following communication was next read:

At a meeting of the Civic Club held Tuesday Nov. 21, it was decided to petition the Town Council to incorporate in the Ordinance book an ordinance to prohibit expectorating on the sidewalks and street crossings of the town.
The enclosed is respectfully submitted for your consideration. For the sake of health and cleanliness we ask your co-operation in this matter. The Civic Club will share any expense for the printing of placards or notices necessary to bring this before our town people.

Accompanying this communication was an outline of an ordinance to prohibit expectorating upon the side walks and street crossings under a penalty of $5.00.

This request of the ladies which would have placed the town side by side with hundreds of other towns who have advanced to the point of adopting such an ordinance was sincerely given serious consideration, questions being asked, where are we to spit, and will cuspidors be provided.
Upon motion to refer matter to an ordinance committee with directions to present an ordinance to be acted on at next meeting, covering the matter, Gilbert, Beck and Wolf voted for motion and Oyler, Menchey, Swift, Becker and Hess against. It was a matter of surprise that the Council was willing to vote the town a back number in a civic improvement which has been adopted all over this land.
But so it was and the suggestion of the Civic Club was referred to the Board of Health.

The Sewerage committee presented the following report which was received:

"The undersigned special Sewerage Committee, appointed by the Council respectfully report that they have employed the services of Mason D. Pratt, a practical civil engineer, of Harrisburg, to make complete and comprehensive plans for a general sewerage system for the whole borough and to be so arranged that it can be built in sections if desired; that the price agreed upon is the sum of $600 and 2-1-2 per cent. of the contract price on the total cost if built by the borough and for which Mr. Pratt is to draw up the plans and specifications for bidders and to superintend the work as an engineer and to do the engineering work.
They would therefore recommend that a resolution be passed by the Council embodying these terms.

CALVIN GILBERT,
A. B. PLANK,
JOHN A. MENCHHEY.

The following resolution was then passed for general sewerage system, the Council putting themselves upon record for improvement as against their vote on previous matter:

Resolved, that in accordance with the recommendation of the Sewerage Committee, the Borough of Gettysburg hereby employ the services of Mason D. Pratt, a practical civil engineer of Harrisburg, Pa., for the purpose of making complete, comprehensive plans for a general sewerage system for the whole borough, so arranged that it can be built in sections if desired, the said plans to be the property of the said borough, and that the borough will pay him for said services the sum of $600, and in addition thereto the sum of 2-1-2 per cent. of the contract price for work done under said plans or of
plans and specifications for bidders and to superintend the work as an engineer.

Dr. W. H. O'Neal then presented the following petition to Council:

GENTLEMEN: We, the undersigned, property owners and citizens, respectfully petition for relief from the dust and dirt arising from the condition of certain streets of the borough on which has been placed recently a large quantity of fine stone and dust. The continuous dust is not only an annoyance, filling houses and clothing with dirt and injuring paint and furniture, it is also a detriment to the public health.
We ask your early attention to the matter.

SPRING SALE DATES.
Spring Sales promise to be as numerous in 1905 as last year. The Compiler starts the list at usual time with a long list. These dates are inserted free with the understanding that the sales are advertised later in our columns. The most thorough advertising of a sale is repaid many times over. The Compiler has always had the largest list of sales, because it is a paper that is read and it is known throughout the county that it pays best to advertise in the Compiler. Attractive sale bills are made a specialty, call and see them and learn prices. Send in your dates and let the good work begin of rolling up a good sale for you.

APPROPRIATE CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

GUNNERS AFTER RABBITS
Buchanan Valley, Dec. 10 1901.—Miss Estelle Cole is visiting in McSherrystown.
Chas. Kuhn has also returned from the fields of employment in New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, and Vermont. He and Thomas J. Cole from this place, were employed in the packing and shipping of apples in those states.
Francis McDermitt returned to Altoona on the eighth of the month.
We had snow on Monday last about four inches and at this writing is showing and bids fair to be a deep snow.
Rev. Wm. Howard of Chambersburg, spent several days in the valley the past week. Remaining from Thursday, when he celebrated Mass in St. Ignatius church until Sunday, for the celebration of the Mass.
The sportsmen of the valley have been out "en masse" the past week for rabbits as the time for shooting them is growing short, ending on the 15th. of this month.
Your correspondent was the recipient of some fine game bagged during the season.
Chas. Musser and Joseph Burkey are both improving.

ARENDTSVILLE AFFAIRS
Arendtsville, Dec. 12.—Last Saturday about five inches of snow fell here and sleighing is pretty good.
Last Saturday Mrs. Lucy Schlosser sold her live stock and farm implements, they amounted to $241.00 and it was all paid cash but $16.00.
We have known sales to be held that amounted to double that amount and they hardly got as much cash as to pay the auctioneer and clerk.
Rev. Harry A. Snyder, of Tiffin Ohio and Mrs. Margaret Shuler of Spring Lake N. J. are visitors among friends here.
Mrs. L. M. Hanson of Syracuse Ind. is at the home of her daughter Mrs. Arthur Roberts who has been ill during the last few days with pneumonia. There is a good deal of complaint here now of low water and dry wells.

Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.
When suffering daily torture From backache, rheumatic pain, Any ill of kidneys or bladder, Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.
Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble, of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys.
These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."
A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Mil-

A Japanese Wooing
[Original.] Jiroku Kudo was a common soldier in the Japanese army, or, rather, he was a driver in the artillery. One day Mineyama, a nurse-girl in Nagasaki, saw Kudo ride by on one of the horses dragging a cannon, and there was such an appearance of power in the gun (and was not Kudo, grilling the horses that dragged it about like a toy, more powerful than the gun itself?) that she straightway fell in love with him. Kudo noticed the girl standing beside the road, her hand on the busy carriage that contained her charge, and was as much struck with her as she with him.
Therefore, when off duty, he waited and watched for her where he had seen her, met her, and then and there was a love affair.
But Mineyama's love had been inflamed by Kudo the gun driver rather than Kudo the man. Consequently when Kurota, a young sergeant in the cavalry, came along with a brand new uniform he looked so splendid that Mineyama at once transferred her affections from the artillery to the cavalry. The truth is that the same day Kurota appeared with his new clothes and trappings Kudo came along after driving over a muddy road all day, dirty and bespattered. Considering the opinion of her love, this was quite enough to turn the little nurse-girl's affections. It was all very well for Mineyama and the cavalry sergeant, for that matter, but it was death to the gun driver. He declared that he would commit harakiri, but Mineyama only laughed at him and told him that he had better go and get a plum in his hat like that of Kurota; then, if he looked well, she might reconsider the matter.
There had been a good deal of talk of war with Russia, and that very night the Japanese fleet attacked the Russian vessels at Port Arthur. Kudo had no need to commit harakiri; the Russians were quite willing to save him the trouble. His battery was put on a transport and landed in Korea.
Kudo was in a number of fights, in which his clothes—they could hardly be called a uniform—became so begrimed with powder and dirt that he was in despair. "If Mineyama were to see me today," he moaned, "she would spurn me more than ever." To make matters worse, Kurota rode by one day, and, being attached to the headquarters of a general officer, where they try to keep everything spick and span, his uniform was more showy than ever.
The great battle of the war was coming on at Liaoyang. For several days half a million of men shot at one another. Then the affair took a decisive turn. Kudo was driving a gun in one of General Nodzu's batteries, who commanded the center of the Japanese army. All of the gun drivers' horses were killed, and Kudo, having nothing to drive, turned his attention to his gun. One by one his comrades fell under the terrific fire of the enemy till at last there was but one gun in his battery available and one man to work it—Kudo. A general rode by and saw him putting a shot every few minutes just where it was needed. The officer was so impressed with the driver's efficiency that he said to him:
"When we have less to do report in person at my headquarters." Well, the battle was over at last, and Kudo, remembering the general's order, reported at his tent.
"Ah, you are the last man to work the last gun in your battery in the late battle. Well, you are promoted to be Lieutenant. Is there any special desire that you would like to have gratified?" Kudo thought for awhile and then said:
"General, I hear that the 11th infantry is going back to Nagasaki to recruit. I would like to go with it."
"What?" asked the general, surprised. "Are you tired of war?"
"Oh, no, general; I only wish to march into the city. I will return the next day."
"In what capacity do you wish to go with the regiment?"
"As drum major."
The general laughed. "And why, my brave fellow, do you desire to go home as drum major?"
"I love a little nurse-girl named Mineyama who is much impressed with fine uniforms. If she sees me with all the gold lace and trappings of a drum major, tossing my staff to the air, she will be much impressed and perhaps will make me happy."
"You shall have your desire, my good man, and when you return I want you on my staff. You are the first man I have ever met who has the sense to properly woo a woman, and a man with so much brain in that respect must be wise in others."
The next day Kudo marched to the coast with the 11th infantry, boarded a transport and was taken to Nagasaki.
The people were wild with enthusiasm over the great victory, and the streets were lined to view the entry into the city. As the men proceeded their wives, sisters and sweethearts joined them and marched with them hand in hand. Mineyama was in a second story window a dozen feet from the sidewalk. When she saw Kudo march by covered with gawgaws, twirling his staff and strutting like a peacock, she jumped out of the window, and, though injured by her fall, rushed to him to be caught in his arms.
The next day Kudo returned to the front and became a lieutenant and aide-de-camp on the staff. One day when he came in after a shower from an inspection of pickets and very much bespattered he saw his rival still a sergeant.
"Go get a plum in your cap," shouted Kudo; "then you may look for a sweetheart."

FEASTS OF FLOWERS
BUDDS AND BLOSSOMS THAT ARE REGULARLY USED FOR FOOD.
All Over the World Numerous Varieties of Delicate and Succulent Flowers Play an Important Part in the Diet of Mankind.
Though the fact is well known that flowers are used extensively as medicine, it comes as a surprise to hear that tons of delicate flowers are regularly used as food. In many parts of India the flowers of a saponaceous tree, Bassia latifolia or mahwah, form a really important article of diet. These blossoms, which are succulent and very nourishing and numerous, fall at night in large quantities from the trees and are gathered early in the morning and eaten raw. They have a sweet, but sickly taste and odor. They are likewise dried in the sun and sold in the bazaars. The blossoms dry them and store them as a staple article of food, and so important are they considered for this purpose that when in expeditions for the punishment or subjugation of a few tribes when surely a direct insult to the invading force to cut down such Bassia trees the measure must so seriously insure their submission. An ancient spirit like whisky is distilled from these flowers and is consumed in huge quantities by the natives of Cambodia, etc. The larvae and hills provide such flowers both raw and cooked and eaten with the addition of grain and also make sweetmeats of them. A single tree affords from 250 to 400 pounds of blossoms.
In Malabar and Mysore another species, abornia, Bassia latifolia, the flowers of which are used in a similar manner by the natives. They are attached and removed and then eaten or are boiled and boiled to a jelly and made into small balls, which are sold or exchanged for fish, rice and various sorts of small grains. The flowers of the Juhus tree, Cereus siliguanum of Europe, have an agreeable acid taste and are sometimes mixed with salads or made into fritters with batter, and the flower buds are pickled with vinegar. The flowers of the American species, C. canadensis, the red bud, are used by the French Canadians in salads and pickles. The flowers of the Abutilon esculentum are used in Brazil as boiled vegetables. The flowers of Moringa pterygosperme, the horseradish tree, are eaten by the natives of India in their curry.

The young calices of Dillenia scarbella and D. speciosa, which are swelling and fleshy, have a pleasantly acid taste and are used by the inhabitants of Chittagong and Bengal in their curries and also for making jellies. The large, showy flowers of the nasturtium, Tropaeolum majus, are frequently used along with the young leaves in salads. They have a warm taste not unlike that of the common cress, and it is from this similarity that the plant has gained the name of nasturtium.

The hill people of India are fond of the flowers of the rhododendron arboreum, and even the European visitors use them for making jelly. Yet poisonous properties are ascribed to the species of this genus, and it has been said that the R. ponticum was the plant from whose flowers the bees of Pontus gathered the honey which produced the extraordinary symptoms of poisoning described as having attacked the Greek soldiers in the famous retreat of the ten thousand.

The flower buds of the Zygophyllum, fabago are used as a substitute for capers, and the flowers of Melanthus major, a plant of the same order, are so full of honey that the natives of Good Hope, where the plant grows wild, obtain it for food by shaking the tree, when it falls in a heavy shower.
Coccoloba unifera is remarkable from the peculiarity of the calyx, which becomes pulpy and of a violet color, whence the plant gets its name of seaside grape. The flower stalks of the Hovenia dulcis become extremely large and succulent and are used in China as a fruit. They resemble a ripe pear in flavor. Some tribes of the American Indians cook and eat the flowers of the pumpkin, and the Aztecs consider them a greater delicacy.

The flower clusters of the caulinower, which form themselves into a firm cluster or head varying from four to eight or more inches across, become the edible portion of one of the greatest of vegetable delicacies. In this it differs greatly from all other members of the cabbage family, whose leaves and stalks are used for culinary purposes. The flower buds of the Capparis spinosa, a plant which grows on the walls in southern Europe, are pickled in vinegar in Italy and form what are commonly known as capers. These are chiefly imported from Sicily, though the plant is largely cultivated in some parts of France. The cloves of commerce are the unexpanded buds of Caryophyllus aromaticus, a small evergreen, native of the Moluccas, but cultivated in many parts of the east and West Indies. The flower buds of Calceanthus aromaticus, another plant of the same order, is a very good substitute for cloves. The flower buds of the myrtle and also the berries were eaten as spices by the ancients and are still in use in Tuscany. Long pepper is furnished by the immature spikes of the "Chavica pexhorabilis, which are gathered and dried in the sun. In chemical composition and quality it resembles ordinary black pepper and contains piperine.—New York Herald.
